Recruit Release Notes Changes Launching 2016-3-24

Recruitments

We have made additions to the filters list so that Analysts can now filter applicants by specializations. This will help ensure that applicants will be reviewed by the proper committee members.

We also added the ability for Analysts, Chairs, and Editors to manually edit applicant-selected specializations so that any mistakes entered by the applicant can be corrected. Edits can be made from the applicant's review page, and any edits to the applicant-selected specializations will be noted in the applicant log for historicity.

Committees can also now view applicant-selected specializations in the applicant bundle. This addition ensures that the applicant bundle PDF captures every detail in an application.

We also made a minor change to the specialization creation modal that further refines the analyst's experience. Now, a specialization can be removed from the creation modal without first having to save it.

Other Enhancements

We've redesigned how validation messages appear so that errors appear above help tips, and help tips do not turn red. This should make it easier for users to view error messages.
