

Recruit Release Notes Changes Launching 2016-2-12

Recruitments

On draft recruitments, users can now preview the JPF before it's published. This preview should make it easier to catch mistakes before any applicants see the posting.

🚫 Applicants cannot apply to the recruitment because it is not yet published. When it is, applicants can apply to the recruitment on 1/20/2016

We added a second Search Plan link to the Reports tab, which should make the plan much easier to find when you need it. No more digging around the application!

Please enter one ad source at a time.

* Name

Places I've advertised: Daily Planet, Daily Bugle

is too long (maximum is 255 characters)

There is now a help tip and error validation for the Ad Sources field. Users will be informed that only one ad source should be entered at a time, and they will be warned if they exceeded the character limit.

Committees

Committee chairs and editors (as well as Additional chairs and editors) can now upload Ad Evidences on the Advertisements page.

Documentation

We updated the help documentation to remove mentions of the outdated term "Diversity Report" (replaced by the more specific Applicant Pool Report and Search Report), as well as describe the Job Location field in the recruitment creation wizard.

We also suggest users of third-party dossier services to contact the third-party for assistance in using their service with Recruit.
